Dear parents,

School web pages are public documents welcoming the outside world to the school. Guidelines for school web pages have been established by the Archdiocese of Chicago. They must support other educational mission, goals, and objective of the Archdiocese and must be appropriate for anyone to access. In producing web pages the following goals are considered: (1) introducing external visitors to the school and its programs, and (2) linking internal users to outside information resources.

As part of class/course projects, students will be developing and publishing web pages(s) on the Internet. Publishing web pages is similar to publishing a newspaper with text and pictures. Just as anyone may pick up and read an article in the newspaper, anyone with access to a computer and to the internet may find and read student web pages.
